Why we read to babies

- Reading together gives us a chance to cuddle, and cuddling is vital to healthy brain development.
- Pictures in books help babies' eyes learn to focus.
- When we read with very young children, we are showing them that reading is important.
- For babies—chewing is reading! Eventually, with a little help, they will learn how to properly handle books.
- Reading to babies and young children on a regular basis helps prepare them for school.

Reading is Fun!
