Rhyming Fun

A Little Book

Sit baby in your lap for this rhyme.

Here's a page,
(Hold out a flat palm in front of you and baby.)

And here's a page,
(Add the other palm.)

And here's a little book.
(Squeeze open palms together to make a book shape.)

Turn a page,
(Flip palm on top of the other.)

And turn a page,
(Flip palm again.)

Read and take a look!
(Hold up book to eyes.)

Paper

Paper can have many different textures; smooth, rough or bumpy. Playing with paper is a fun way for baby to learn through touch.

Ideas & Tips

- Read favorite books and talk about what they are made of. Babies explore new objects by putting them in their mouths. This often means "reading" a book looks a lot like chewing!
- Crumple up pieces of paper into balls. Listen to the sound this makes. Toss or roll paper balls to each other, talking as you play.
- Make a game out of putting paper into your recycling bin.
- Make a paper hat for you and baby. (Check YouTube for instructions!)
- Talk about how people write on paper. Hold a crayon or marker in baby's hand and together write on a piece of paper. Start with baby's name!
- Point out objects that are made out of paper. Paper bags, tissues, wrapping paper, paper towels, toilet paper! Discuss how we use each type of paper differently.
- Go to the library. Books are made of paper! For toddlers, demonstrate how to be gentle with a book so as not to tear the pages.
