If you speak two languages in your home, you are giving your children the gift of a second language. A growing body of scientific research suggests that people who speak two languages excel at "mental juggling" tasks which require a person to prioritize and to ignore irrelevant information. There is also evidence that bilingualism may slow the development of dementia in older adults.

Although they may have difficulties at times learning vocabulary in two different languages, the benefits for your child's brain may truly outweigh the challenges.
