Things to do together

• Sing "The Farmer and the Dell together.
• Use non-fiction books to engage your child in a discussion about mothers—adoptive mothers, grandmas, mothers in law, even animal mothers, etc. Talk about what mothers do and why they are important. Celebrate the similarities and differences in motherhood.
• Make a list of all the mothers that you and your child know
• Write "thank you" cards to one or two of your child's favorites.
• Print off and cut out pictures of animal mothers and babies. Mix up the photos and encourage your child to match the mother with her baby.
• Make a chart together of words that describe mothers.

Other Resources
The Creative Family : How to Encourage Imagination & Nurture Family Connections by Soule, Amanda Blake.