Things to do together

- Pull out some winter clothes and some summer clothes. Engage your child in a conversation about the differences between them.
- Use some black or dark blue construction paper and white chalk and/or cotton balls and make a “winter” picture. Encourage your child to tell you the story of their picture. Dictate what they tell you and post them up on the wall together.
- Make a list of activities that people might undertake in winter.
- Hunt for things around that house that begin with the “W” sound of winter.
- Cut out snowflakes from paper and hang them from the ceiling. Talk about the fact that snowflakes are as unique as people—no two are exactly alike.
