Rock-a-bye baby
in your small boat, (Cradle your baby in your arms and glide them gently through the water from side to side )
When the wind blows,
your small boat will rock.
When the wind falls,
your small boat will float,
Safely to shore, baby and all.

Water

Most babies have a natural love of water. You can nurture a child's trust of water by creating experiences that feel safe and enjoyable.

Ideas & Tips

- Play with a washcloth during baby's bath. Gently trickle water over the forehead and face to get your baby used to running water.
- Visit a waterfront park like Point Defiance or Wapato Park. Throw rocks in the water and watch birds and other wildlife, talking to baby about what you see.
- Visit a local museum and spend time at their water tables. The Children's Museum of Tacoma has "pay as you will" admission, playtacoma.org/water
